

Lauren Foley is an experienced Enterprise Account Management professional specializing in technology and engagement solutions. Lauren is passionate about leveraging technology to connect with individuals to improve the emotional, mental, and physical well-being of people of all ages, especially our nation's older adult population. Lauren manages relationships with national senior living organizations for iN2L, engaging with communities to determine how technology can help them enhance resident satisfaction and meet organizational goals.