

Jon Cody is a Co-Founder and CEO of Digital Health Networks, the first media company focused solely on healthcare. Prior to DHN, Jon was the Founder and CEO of TV4 Entertainment, a producer and distributor of over 30-niche streaming services. Jon's professional career is closely tied to the creation and evolution of streaming entertainment, marketing, and distribution. He spent 4 years as a Special Policy Advisor and Legal Advisor under FCC Chairman Michael K. Powell. Here he played a key role in developing the first comprehensive national broadband plan for the United States. This was quickly followed by a successful run as the General Manager of Hulu during the streaming service's initial launch. He also served as the SVP of Digital Media at Fox Network Groups (FNG), where he grew the business to $150 million in revenues across 30+ Digital entertainment and sports properties. Additionally, Jon incubated streaming businesses for Fox Entertainment Group's film and television studios. Jon, a native New Yorker has spent the last 15 years in Los Angeles.