

Katie Coffee has been at DoorDash since 2017, working on marketing across nearly every audience and channel. She currently leads the Strategic Audiences team, focusing on building lasting relationships with key audiences and the next generation of DoorDash customers. Prior to DoorDash, she was at Lonely Planet for 7 years where she led Marketing for the US and Canada. She grew up in the Bay Area and lives with her husband and son in Oakland.