

Patrice A. Harris, MD, MA, FAPA
Everyday Health Chief Health and Medical Editor

Dr. Patrice Harris is Everyday Health's Chief Health and Medical Editor and the CEO and cofounder of eMed, a digital healthcare company. She is a board-certified psychiatrist in Atlanta with diverse experience as a private practicing physician, a county public health officer, and a patient advocate with experience in policy, legislative, and government affairs. She was the 174th president of the American Medical Association (AMA) and the first African American woman elected to the position. She is also a visiting professor of psychiatry at the Columbia University Vagelos College of Physicians and Surgeons.