

Roshawn Blunt, managing director of 1798, a Fingerpaint company, has more than 20 years of experience in the biopharmaceutical and medical device industries. She began her pharmaceutical career at The Boston Consulting Group, working primarily on cases in the healthcare industry. She transitioned out of consulting and into positions on both the manufacturer and the provider sides of the industry. Roshawn then returned to consulting when she founded 1798.